Do you love The Great British Bake Off? Fancy yourself as a star baker and want to support ReachOut? Then take part in the ReachOut Bake Off!

How can I be involved?

1. Start a Bake Off challenge with your colleagues, friends or family. Decide your judging categories and simply ask for a suggested donation to take part. Let us know who your winner of the competition was so we can send them a congratulations and a virtual hand shake from the big boss of ReachOut, Bejal. Once the taste test is over, get everyone to sell slices of their cake to raise even more money for ReachOut.
2. If the competition sounds a bit too fierce, why not just host a traditional bake sale? Sell your goodies over a lunch hour in the office, or take them around to your neighbours and collect the sales for ReachOut.

How shall I collect donations?

Either create a page on Just Giving and ask for donations to be paid there, or collect the cash and make a payment to our account with the reference ROBAKEOFF

Need inspiration? We've interviewed Rhiana, former mentee and owner of Cravin' Child (her part-time cake business based in East London.) Rhiana gives us the scoop on her favourite bake and how she will be involved in the ReachOut Bake Off challenge....

So Rhiana, how long have you been baking?

I have been baking since I was a child (too young to remember). I honestly loved baking and just never stopped.

What's your favourite thing to bake?

Red velvet!!! 😊

How do you manage to run Cravin' Child alongside your full time job?

It has been extremely difficult to run Cravin' Child with my job. After university, it was easy as I was living at home and had just started my graduate scheme, so I had time to bake every weekend. But now I have moved out and received a managerial promotion, I can only really find time to bake once every few weeks/month. I try my hardest to keep all my customers/followers updated and show that I still love what I do!

How will you be participating in the ReachOut Bake Off challenge?

Firstly throughout October, 25% of any order from Cravin' Child will be donated to ReachOut. Secondly, Cravin' child is partnering up with an amazing baker Kierstan! And on the 8th of October, we will be baking together and posting on Instagram. There will be an opportunity to pre-order any bake we make on this day, and 50% of everything from the 8th will be donated to ReachOut
